/ MINI BRAND GUIDE
V 0.1 · MAY 2026

A company brain that does the work.

/ THE IDEA

kyn is a multi-agent system. A supervisor decides which capability to call - Code, Company, Memory, or Action - based on what each problem actually needs. It synthesizes context across Slack, Gmail, GitHub, Notion, and contracts; ships real artifacts; and gets smarter every run.

/ VOICE

- DO
 - Lowercase. Direct.
 - End sentences with a period.
 - Use italic for the verb that matters.
 - Show the work. Cite sources.
- DON'T
 - Don't promise "AI magic."
 - Don't shout. No exclamation.
 - Don't decorate. Edit instead.
 - Don't say "agentic." Say what it does.

/ TYPOGRAPHY · GEIST · GEIST MONO

Display sets the tone.

03 / SOCIAL · INSTAGRAM

Six-slide carousel system.

A repeatable 6-tile carousel arc · Cover, Framework, Quote, Data, Story, CTA. Each tile uses the same compositional grammar: slash-label corner, editorial display center, mono footer.

- / Cover · framework · quote · data · story · CTA
- / Three surface modes rotated for rhythm
- / One orange element per tile

04 / SOCIAL · STORIES

Three story templates.

Vertical templates for Instagram Stories · Announcement on dark, Quote on paper, CTA on full-bleed orange. Each follows the same scaffold: progress bars, kyn mark, content, swipe-up handle.

- / Announcement · beta · news
- / Quote · attribution card
- / CTA · full-bleed orange

05 / PROFILE COMPOSITION

The first nine posts.

Nine individual posts composed as a coordinated profile page. Three lifestyle photographs anchor the grid; four capability cards (Code, Company, Memory, Action) rotate between dark, paper, and orange surfaces; one manifesto, one data tile, one CTA.

- / Three real product photos
- / Four capability cards
- / Manifesto · data · beta CTA

/ FROM THE KYN TEAM

Why we shipped Memory this week.

Nadine · Founding designer
3 MIN AGO

For the first six months of kyn, every run started cold. The supervisor would dispatch the same diagnostic sweep over the same Slack channels, find the same patterns, draft the same kind of mitigation. Useful · but redundant.

This week we shipped Memory · a first-class agent that records what the supervisor learned, and recalls it on every subsequent run. It cut our median time-to-diagnosis by 57%.

"The next time you ask why are payments failing, the supervisor already knows what to skip."

06 / EMAIL DIRECTION

Editorial-tech. Quiet authority.

A signed letter from the team, not a marketing blast. Paper ground (Daylight), mono slash-labels, a single orange accent. Pull quotes carry the verb that matters in italic.

- / Masthead with issue number + read time
- / Signed by name
- / Inline pull quote with orange rail
- / Stat triplet · clean mono footer

07 / PRINTED ARTIFACT

For the first hour of an incident.

A printable PDF workbook teams run with their on-call after an incident · captures the timeline, the diagnosis, what they ruled out, and what kyn should remember.

- / US Letter · 8.5 × 11
- / Cover (dark) + interior spread (paper)
- / Memory-entry callout · orange rail

/ FOR ENGINEERING LEADERS

A company brain that does the work.

kyn diagnoses incidents, ships fixes, and writes the customer back · in minutes. A supervisor agent decides which capability to call based on what the problem actually needs.

/ THE PROBLEM

Senior engineers spend the first hour of every incident reading Slack, grepping logs, and re-deriving context the team already has. Tools summarize, kyn ships.

/ THE APPROACH

Four sub-agents (Code, Company, Memory, Action) share one supervisor that routes the run, watches the work, and synthesizes the result. Every step is auditable.
